

Joanna Baltes

Joanna is an Adjunct Professor and the Curriculum Coordinator for the M.S. Cybersecurity Policy and Governance Program at Boston College, and a member of the Business Advisory Council for the Cyber and National Security Programs at Boston College's Woods College. Joanna is the former President of the school board for the fifth-largest school district in the state of North Dakota where she introduced a 21st Century, personalized learning approach to delivering education, and provided strategic guidance to district leadership in the development of the distance learning plan for K-12 in the wake of COVID-19 statewide closures. Joanna is a former federal prosecutor for the U.S. Department of Justice having served as an Assistant United States Attorney for the Southern District of California, Trial Attorney for the Counterterrorism Section, Detailed Trial Counsel to the Office of Military Commissions in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and Counsel to the Assistant Attorney General for the National Security Division. Her final position with DOJ was as Chief of Staff to the FBI Deputy Director. As an expert consultant, Joanna provides strategic advice and counsel to public and private universities, public school districts, and private K-12 schools academic institutions.